ABSTRACT:
The focus of this research is to develop a hierarchical structure that produces “families” of IPS modules and their required auxiliary equipment in response to user input of desired power requirements. This forms the basis of an IPS machinery arrangement and design tool for early stage naval electric ship design.

REFERENCES:

Contact Email: djj@mit.edu